Background

As a part of Gov. Holcomb’s Next Level Agenda for 2018, the program trains men at the Edinburgh Correctional Facility how to weld with the ultimate goal of aligning them with gainful employment in the industry upon release. Welding is an exceptional pathway for released offenders, providing higher pay rates and stable employment upon re-entry. Currently Indiana’s correctional facilities house about 27,000 offenders—and more than 90 percent of them will eventually be released back into Hoosier communities. Employers who are interested in hiring graduates are especially welcome to attend the ceremony and meet our graduates.
